"August Flower"

How does he feel?—He feels cranky, and is constantly experimenting, dieting himself, adopting strange notions, and changing the cooking, the dishes, the hours, and manner of his eating—August Flower the Remedy.

How does he feel?—He feels at times a gnawing, voracious, insatiable appetite, wholly unaccountable, unnatural and unhealthy—August Flower the Remedy.

How does he feel?—He feels no desire to go to the table and a grumbling, fault-finding, over-nicety about what is set before him when he is there—August Flower the Remedy.

How does he feel?—He feels after a spell of this abnormal appetite an utter abhorrence, loathing, and detestation of food; as if a mouthful would kill him—August Flower the Remedy.

How does he feel?—He has irregular bowels and peculiar stools—

The Secret of Moltke's Power.

"Learn to condense" is a bit of commonplace advice often given to students of literary composition, but the lesson of the great field marshal's life shows the value of the admonition in every form of work, from the management of an army to the writing of a letter. There was no waste in Moltke, not even a waste of words, and men said of him that he could be silent in many languages. The reason was that he had learned to combine his faculties and direct them all in harmony to the purpose of the hour.

He needed all his energies for action, and because even talk must draw for sustenance upon the nervous forces, he said little. He had brought his own faculties under drill and discipline, and in like manner he could condense the energies of a kingdom into a cannon ball, compact and irresistible. He drew eight corps of the Prussian army from divergent points and converged them upon Sadowa in the critical moment of battle, as a lens concentrates the sunbeams. The center of the Austrian army melted under the heat, and when the sun went down upon the field Austria had no longer either voice or vote in the politics of Germany.

By his infallible mathematics he worked out the doom of the French empire long before the challenge of Napoleon came, so that when the proclamation of war was made he had nothing to do but touch the little button that set in motion all the complex machinery of the German army, and move it like the sweep of a sword across France to the field of destiny by the ramparts of Sedan.—M. M. Trumbull in Open Court.

A Bachelor Converted.

One of the standard toasts at most of our important and many of the informal dinners here has been, "The ladies—God bless them!" and the response is usually made by Mr. John R. Van Wormer, who is a witty, rapid, energetic speaker, and whose comments as a confirmed bachelor upon the charms of the other sex are always a delight to hear. Mr. Van Wormer is probably known to as many politicians and prominent men as any person of his years in New York. He was for a long time in intimate relations with Senator Con-kling, serving as the clerk of his committee and as his private secretary. He was also chief clerk of the postoffice department when General James was postmaster general, and is now the manager of the largest safe deposit company in the city.

But Mr. Van Wormer will no longer be called upon as a confirmed bachelor to expatiate upon fair women at public dinners. He has capitulated; he has found the fairest of women; he has lowered his independent flag and salutes one of the most charming of her sex, and he is receiving congratulations by the score. He is soon to marry Mrs. D.
Demorest Lloyd, whose husband was a very successful playwright and journalist, and whose sudden death was a great bereavement to a large circle of friends.
—E. J. Edwards in Philadelphia Press.

He Paid the Loan.

It has been remarked that Hebrews do not beg. Furthermore that Hebrews look after their own poor, a distinguishing trait, but we do not remember an instance where a man or boy who was housed in a police station house out of compassion, and who was given a trifle of money to get a meal, ever was at the pains to return and refund the money.
Our avenues of information on this hand are not few. A young Hebrew who walked from St. Louis to Pittsburg was given a quarter of a dollar to satisfy his hunger. His shoes were in ribbons.
When he earned two dollars he bought a pair of shoes, and left a quarter at the station house to be returned to the man who gave it to him. If Isaac Moser lives he will be a successful business man, and in any event he reflects credit upon his race.—Pittsburg Bulletin.

Lord Melbourne's Way of Saying It.

The death of Lord Minto makes a vacancy in the Order of the Thistle for which a number of names are mentioned, that of Lord Strathmore being prominent. The order consists of twenty members, including the four principal royal dukes, and the decoration is eagerly sought after by Scottish peers. It consists of a star, a green ribbon and the motto, "Nemo me impune lacessit." A good story has been revived of the reply made by Lord Melbourne to a political friend who had been importuning him to give the decoration to a peer who was more noted for his urbanity than for his great talents. "Give the thistle to—!" said Lord Melbourne, with one of his usual expletives; "why, he'd eat it!"— Scottish-American.

The Mother Died First.

Tuesday there was a case before Judge Freeman in the probate court of a peculiar kind. Some weeks ago Mrs. Ellen O'Neil died intestate. At about the same time her new born child also died. The question to be decided was whether the mother or the child died first. If the mother died first the child would have inherited her estate, and at the child's death its father would be its heir. If, on the other hand, the child died first, one-half of the estate would go to the brothers and sisters of Mrs. O'Neil, and the other to her husband. Judge Freeman gave his decision, which is that the mother died first. In accordance with this the estate goes to the father.—Hartford Courant

Terrific Storms in Ohio.

CLEVELAND, June 3.—The whole of northern Ohio has been deluged during the past 48 hours. This forenoon, in this city 0.61 of an inch of rain fell inside of seven minutes. The streets were turned to rivers, the water running over the sidewalks. The Superior street cable line was blocked by a washout of sand, which covered the track to a depth of four feet for about 30 yards. The sewers were flooded and in Forest street the water undermined a big water pipe causing it to break, adding greatly to the flood.

At Lima, Ohio, there was a tornado late last night, doing great damage to building and crops. A young man named Samuel Bennett, near Carvett was crushed by a falling tree.

At Salem, Ohio, lightning struck and shattered the steeple of the Presbyterian Church.

At Clyde, Ohio, the storm was terrific, the hail stones breaking windows and door panels in houses and stores. Fifteen windows in a passenger car on the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad were broken and a headlight was smashed and a hole was knocked in a cab.

Children Wander From Home.

ONOVILLE, Cal., June 3.—Two children of August Rosa, who lives about twelve miles from town, wandered from home early yesterday morning, and up to noon to-day had not been recovered. The whole neighborhood turned out to assist in the search, and about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon James Lyons, one of the searching party, caught sight of them, but upon his approach they ran off into the brush. It is feared they have had their minds unsettled by fear and exposure. A large dog which accompanied them has not yet returned. The children are a boy and girl and aged respectively 8 and 6 years.

Heavy Gale on Lake Superior.

Special to the Journal.

WEST SUPERIOR, Wis., June 3.—One of the worst gales of the season swept across Lake Superior to-day. At the entry to Superior Bay the waves were running 30 and 40 feet high, breaking over the light house at the mouth of the entrance. Three vessels are riding at anchor outside the harbor, not daring to venture in or make an effort to pass through the canal. But one life was lost out of the crew of the schooner Mayflower which went down last night, but additional fatalities may result from severe bruises and exposure sustained by others of the crew.

The Stanford University.

Special to the Journal.

MAYFIELD, Cal., June 3.—A contract was filed to-day for the erection of a three-story attic and basement building for a girls' dormitory at the Stanford University to cost about $55,000. It is to be completed next September. Work has been commenced, and two hundred more men will be put on next week. It enables girls to enter the University a year sooner than was expected. The boys' dormitory class rooms and museum will be completed about the same date.

Fire in a Distillery.

Special to the Journal.

CHICAGO, June 3.—The dry room of the Shufeldt distillery was burned early this morning by a fire which threatened to destroy the whole establishment. The loss is $60,000.

The fire is supposed to have originated from an explosion of gases in the feed rooms. Three employees of the distillery went in with a hose to try to extinguish the fire, but were compelled to retreat quickly, one of them being fatally and the other two badly burned.

The Fugitive Decobain.

Special to the Journal.

LONDON, June 3.—Decobain, who fled from Belfast on being charged with an unnatural crime, has written the Conservative Elections Committee that he does not feel that the Lord points it out to him as his duty to meet his accusers at the risk of his life and liberty for the purpose of swearing against pejuiced ruffians.

HOOD'S

It strengthens the system, creates an appetite, and tones the digestive organs, while it eradicates disease. The peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation of the vegetable remedies used give to Hood's Sarsaparilla a peculiarly powerful curative power. No other medicine has such a record of wonderful cures. If you have a skin disease, or any other blood impurity, do not be induced to take any other medicine. It is a Peculiar Medicine, and is worthy your confidence. Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by all druggists. Prepared by Dr. J. C. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Fire at Astoria.

ASTORIA, June 3.—A fire broke out this afternoon in Outhbert's paint shop. The inflammable materials burned rapidly, and for a time a serious conflagration was threatened as a strong wind was blowing. By hard work the Fire Department confined the flames to the building where it originated. The heaviest loser is Wong Ho Lung, a Chinese merchant. Total loss $10,500. Uninsured.
